

Dinosaur Valley Endurance Run

December 1, 2018

RUNNERS' MANUAL

Welcome to the 3rd year of this race being renamed and held at beautiful Dinosaur Valley State Park in Glen Rose, Texas (previously this race was the Big Cedar Endurance Run). This was the first 100 miler in North Texas, and I'm excited to see how many finishers in all distances that we add this year!

In all these distances, you'll be among other amazing athletes challenging themselves. There are lots of gradual up and downhills that add up, and a mix of terrain between soft dirt, rocks, and roots. Some parts are technical while other parts are super runnable. This is a pretty hilly 100 miler by Texas standards, and the terrain can trip you up as you fatigue. Use that first loop through the course to settle into a pace for the race and not go out too fast.

This fall has brought us some really tough weather conditions. While we were able to reschedule, some other races have had to move venues, also reschedule, or cancel their event entirely. I'm committed to trying to hold this event on our new date "hell or high water" (hopefully not literally the latter).

Please be sure to read this entire runners' manual. Then, send it to your crew and pacers and tell THEM to read it and print it to bring with them (failure for them to follow rules can result in your disqualification). Then, YOU should print it to bring with you too. We are not sympathetic to those who don't follow rules that are stated within here or are completely oblivious to the schedule and process for the race weekend when we take the time to provide the information.

We have to thank our wonderful volunteers who will be out there taking care of runners for over 30 hours. Everyone you will encounter has given their time to help you succeed. Please treat them well and thank everyone you meet along the way to your finish! Valid concerns should be addressed by asking for the aid station captain or the race director – complaints about unrealistic expectations that do not match what is stated explicitly in this manual will fall on a deaf ear and whining at our shift volunteers will accomplish nothing productive.

Now, let's have some fun and run lots of miles!

Libby Jones

Dinosaur Valley Endurance Run Race Director, The Active Joe Owner

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

Friday, November 30 –

- Those camping at the state park will be able to get their campsite (be sure to reserve through the Parks & Wildlife reservations website)
- 10:00 pm - Lights out and all quiet in the camping area so our participants can be fresh for their race in the morning.

Saturday, December 1 –

- 7:00 am – Packet pickup for all races begins. Your packet has your bib (leave the attached chip alone and don't bend it), safety pins, parking pass, and your shirt.
- 7:45 am to 8:00 am - Trail briefing
- 8:00 am – Start of the 100 miler, 100K, 50K
- 8:45 am to 9:00 am - Trail briefing
- 9:00 am – Start of the half marathon and 5 miler

Sunday, December 2 –

- 10:45 am - all participants must have started their final loop (mile 89)
- 12:50 pm – last incremental cutoff for all distances 3.1 miles from the finish.

PACKET PICKUP

What am I picking up in my packet? The following things:

- Your bib (write medical concerns we should know about on the back as well as emergency contact numbers). Your chip is attached to your bib. Don't detach and don't bend your chip. You may fold your bib as long as the chip doesn't get folded and as long as we can read your number.
- Safety pins. Pin your bib wherever you want as long as it's on the front of you AND volunteers can clearly read it at each aid station.
- Your entrant shirt (you cannot swap sizes pre-race. All sizes are preallocated to those already registered. You can swap after you finish. If you registered late and got "No Guaranteed Shirt", please pick up a shirt after your race from those that weren't picked up by participants.)

Please plan to arrive early so you have time to get your packet, run to the bathroom, and gear up for your race start, with enough extra time that you will NOT want to miss the trail briefing before we start.

Once your race distance starts, you have forfeited all rights to your packet, and the shirt in the packet will be made available to runners who showed up to the start of the race.

Wearing your bib is the only check-in needed.

If you are picking up your packet and NOT starting the race, you MUST get that record on our not-started sheet.

RACE START/FINISH AREA

Location

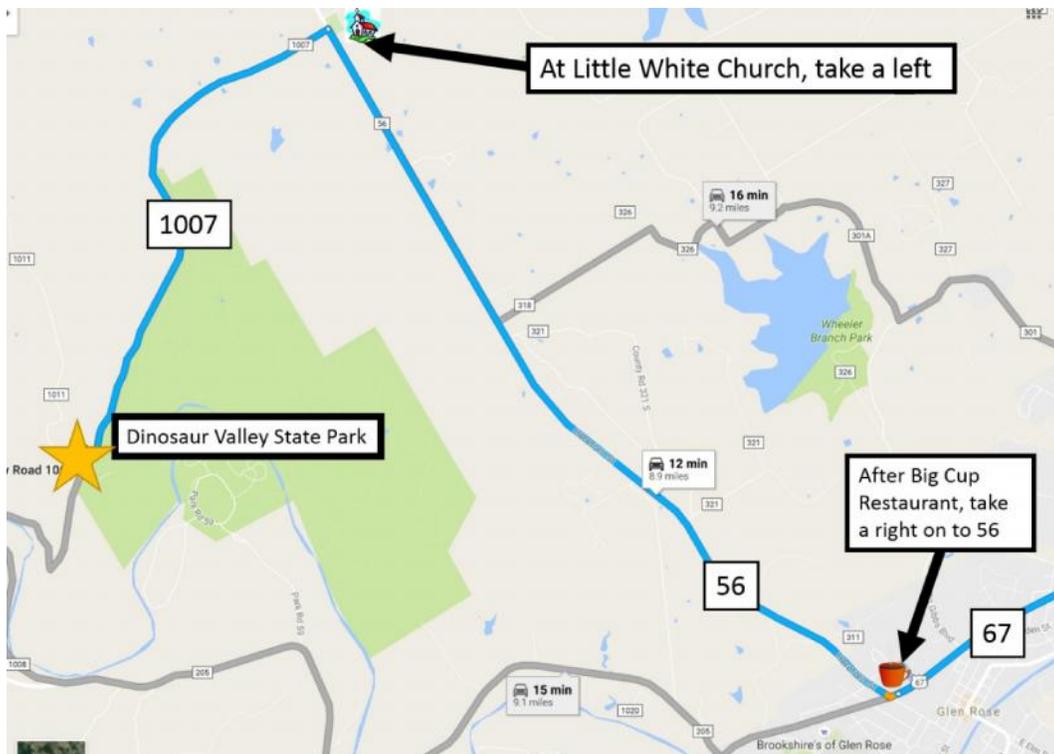

The race will be held at the beautiful Dinosaur Valley State Park in Glen Rose, Texas.

Parking

The Parking Field, the Cedar Brake Aid Station, Packet Pickup, AND the Start/Finish Lines are located at the BACK GATE. To access this, use the following address: 4004 Co Rd 1007, Glen Rose, TX 76043. Since you can't always trust GPS / map software, please use these directions as you approach the area: YOU ARE NOT GOING TO THE MAIN ENTRANCE OF THE STATE PARK.

The back gate to the park is located five miles west of Glen Rose.

- Take U.S. Highway 67 S through Glen Rose
- Turn Right on to Hereford St/56 N (then go 4 Miles)
- Turn Left onto CO RD 1007 (then go 2.7 Miles)
- There will be a gate on your left.

You may want to go over to the main entrance to Dinosaur Valley State Park for access to:

- Official Paid Campsites (which you must have previously reserved with the race)
- Dumping Station for RV Waste

- Indoor-Plumbing Restrooms and Camp Showers
- Playground
- Picnic area with picnic tables
- The Pavilion Aid Station!

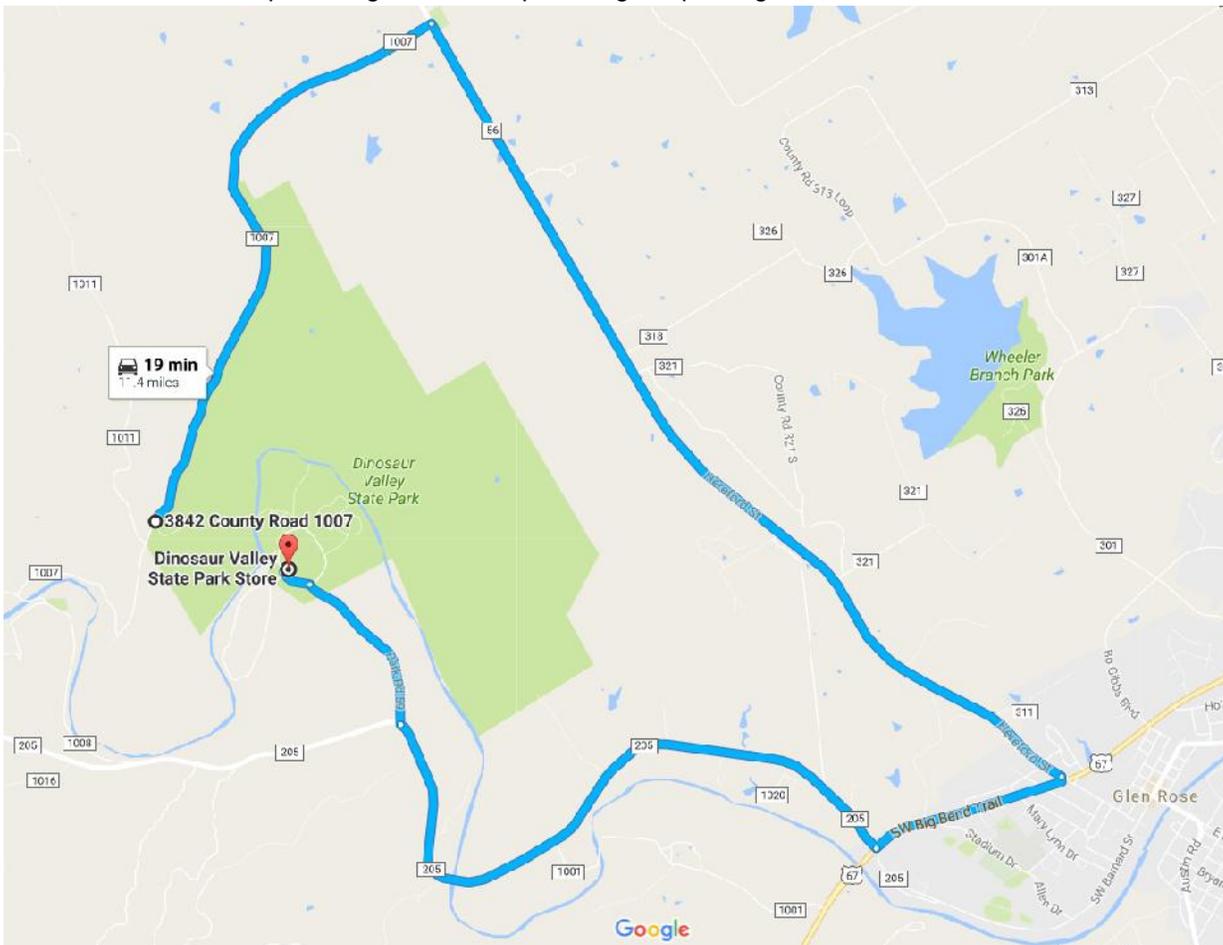

Each runner gets a pass to get into the state park free Friday PM through Monday at noon. How do you get it?

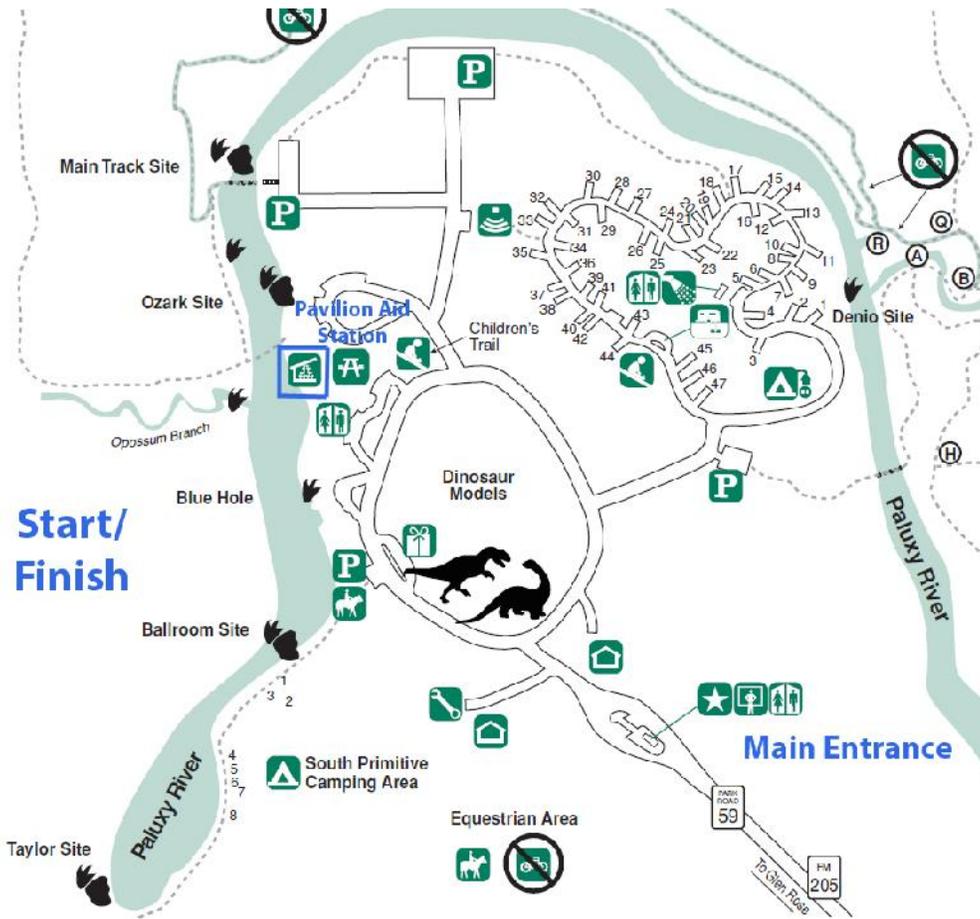

Parking is FREE. There will be a parking pass in your packet. Put it on your windshield if you will want to go over to the park's main gates before, during, or after the race and not have to pay entry over there. This is great for your family to enjoy the parks, your crew to access you at one of the aid stations, and you can use the park's restrooms and campground showers before and after the race!

If arriving on Friday and planning to go over to the main part of the park, email us to get a pass as we won't be onsite until Saturday morning to hand them out.

Directions from the start/finish (Back Gate) over to the main entrance of the State Park:

- Turn right out of the gate leaving the start/finish area to get back on Co Rd 1007.
- After 2.7 miles, turn right onto Hereford Street.
- After 4.1 miles, turn right onto Hwy 67.
- After just 0.8 miles, turn right onto FM 205 N.
- Go 2.9 miles and then take Park Road 59 to your right (you'll see Dinosaur World across the street).
- Stay on Park Road 59 0.7 miles to the park entrance.
- If staff is working the front gate, show them the pass on your windshield. Otherwise, drive right through and you'll be fine for the park rangers that are patrolling the parking lots.

COURSE

Course Description

This race is held at the beautiful Dinosaur Valley State Park in Glen Rose, Texas. This course has rolling and sustained ascents and descents, although none are terribly steep. The loops take you through varied terrain, from double track trails in fields to single track in wooded areas. There is a mix of packed dirt, smaller rocks, larger rocks, slick rock, and some roots. This course really has a little of everything, which includes its views. There are amazing overlooks on this course where you can see for miles.

ALTERNATE COURSE B:

We had so much excessive rain in October 2018 that we had to delay the race to this new date. I'm as bound and determined as I can possibly be to hold this event on our backup date, but there is always the small chance of an act-of-god style natural disaster that would cause us to cancel. In the absence of that, after surveying the course, I found that one side of the course was very marshy, with some areas having a lot of standing water days after it had rained. I have little confidence it will drain quickly. Therefore, we will be not using the original course and will instead use what I call in my backup planning "Alternate Course B".

Note that the course is still subject to significant change. We have an additional alternate course we will use if there is a lot of rain between now and race day.

- Loop Length: It would be a shorter loop (approximately 10.5 miles) run repeatedly. 5 Mile – unchanged

Half Marathon – 5 mile course for your first loop THEN 1 loop of the 10.5-mi loop.

50K – 3 loops of the 10.5-mi loop.

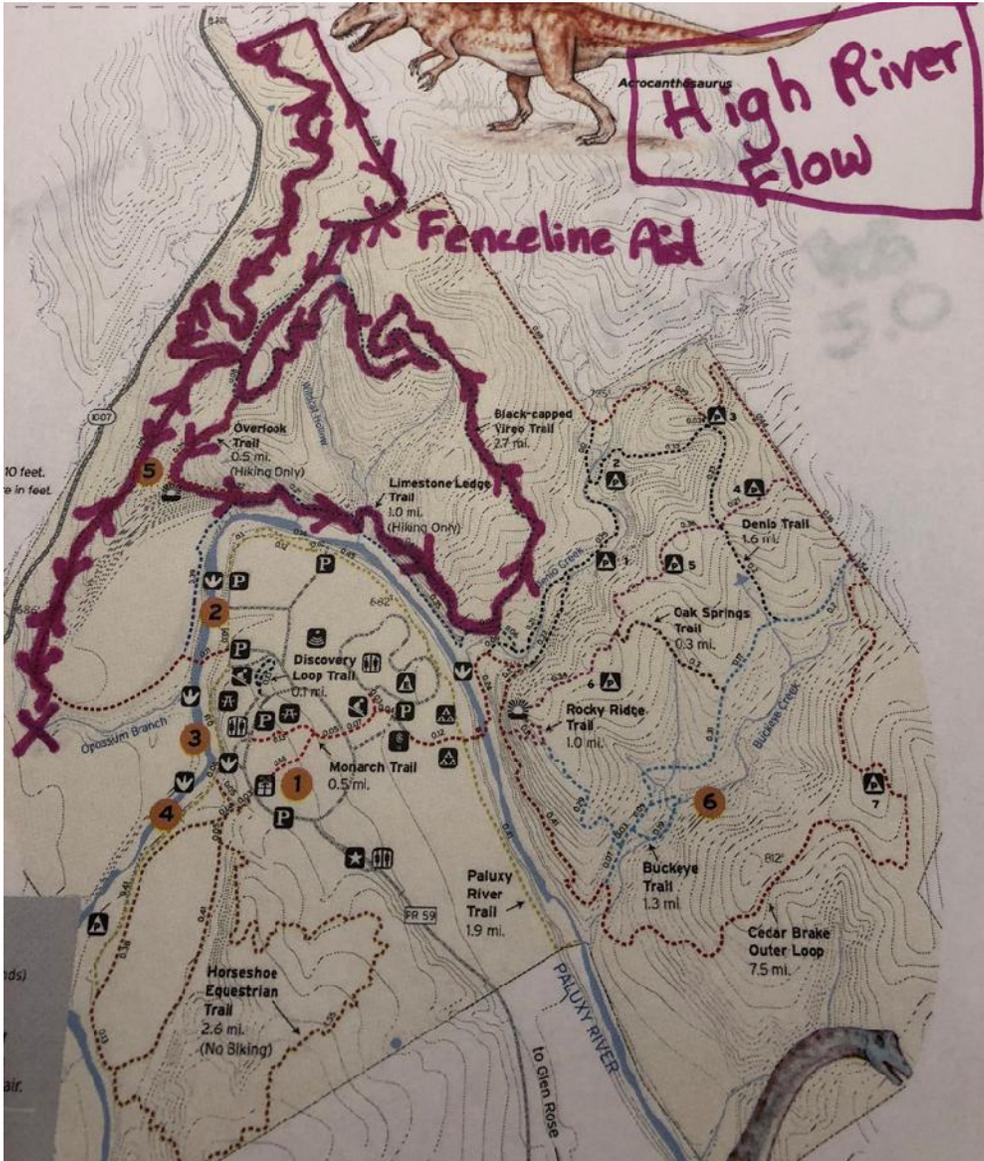

100K – 6 loops of the 10.5-mi loop.

100 Mile – 5 mile course for your first loop THEN 9 loops of the 10.5-mi loop.

- Start/Finish Location: The race would still start at the original start/finish line.
- Aid Stations: See that section of the document for changes.

Course Map

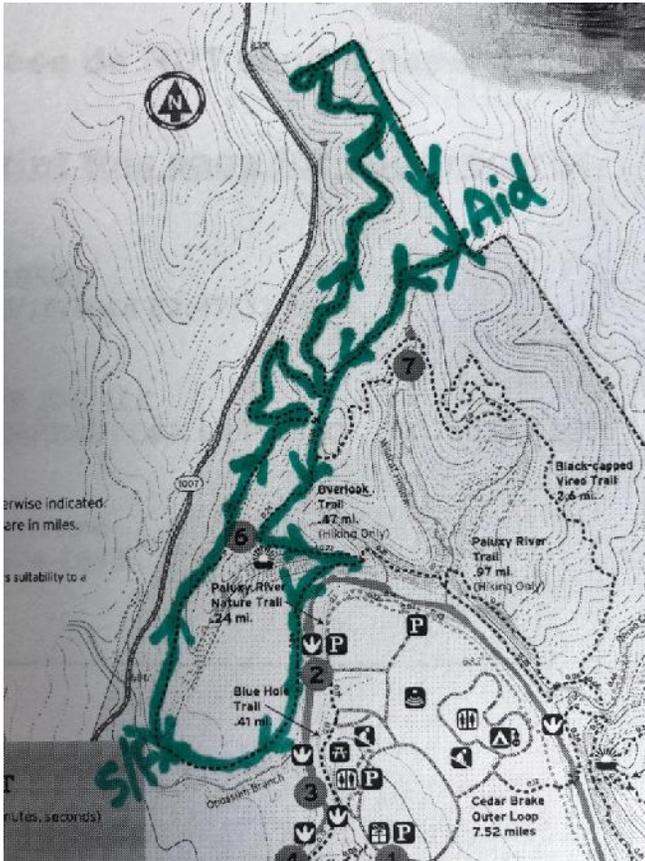

Note that, due to a lack of vehicular access, Fenceline aid station has moved and will now be 0.6 miles earlier in the loop. (top left corner now of the map)

5 Mile – shown below is the entire course (unchanged from the original course). Half Marathon and 100 milers will do this course before the 10.5-mile loop.

Note that, due to a lack of vehicular access, Fenceline aid station has moved and will now be 0.6 miles earlier in the loop.

NOTE THE 0.05 mile OUT AND BACK TO THE FENCE LINE AID STATION IS NOT SHOWN IN THIS MAP.

Mileage is not up for contestation. You will cover at least the distance you signed up for. Trail distances are rarely exact and sometimes multiple miles longer than the signed-up-for distance implies.

Elevation Profile

Here is an elevation profile from data available on Google Earth. This shows the profile for ONE 16.67-mile loop. Therefore, we anticipate the 100 miler will be about 9,600 feet of gain/loss.

100 Mile, 100K, 50K – shown below is 1 ORIGINAL COURSE 16.67-mile loop. With ALTERNATE COURSE B, you will do miles 1 to 7.5 shown here and then head back to the start which is miles 0 to 3 below but in reverse.

For the 5 milers, miles 0 to 4 above are the same, then you head back to the start/finish line on a slightly downhill course.

Weather

Average low temperature is 31. Average high temperature is 61. But it's Texas so the weather is known for being unpredictable. October is historically the rainiest month in fall.

Sunrise: 7:14 am. Sunset: 5:26 pm.

We have a history of unpredictable weather.

The first year, 2014, was a mudfest of constant rain. This resulted in a 20% finish rate in the 100 miler, the 50 miler having to be canceled, and an unusually low finish rate for a 50K.

In 2015, 17 hours into the 100 miler, the entire race had to be cancelled (this was the last year this race was held over at the Big Cedar Mountain Bike Trails in Dallas). Storms came through Friday into Friday night, and what wasn't forecasted to happen, they just sat on top of us as we approached midnight. This led to significant flash flooding on the course, which has the highest point in Dallas but also has quite a few valleys and hollows. Runners reported chest deep water. We held the race for an hour to see if the storms would move through and when they didn't and we had more reports of bridges being out and snakes moving out on the trails in the higher elevations to escape drowning, we were forced to cancel all the events.

In 2016, the trails used came under property dispute, and we moved to Dinosaur Valley State Park. While there was no rain in the forecast, it still rained off and on the entire event, resulting in a lower than hoped for finisher rate. While parts of the trail got messy, the river crossings were largely unchanged, and the rockier soil held up well to the rain.

In 2017, we had 90 degree high temperatures, record highs for Dallas... in November.

Ideally, we will have a pleasant year!

In the case of extreme weather... There are limits to what a trail can handle. Because this is a State Park, the park personnel have the right to cancel the race before or during the event if they believe everyone's safety will be in jeopardy. We appreciate they are watching out for us, we understand the tough decision, and we hope the weather isn't extreme so they don't have to make that tough decision!

Trail Hazards

This is not an exhaustive list but some hazards to watch out for on the trail:

- Snakes - we've had a cold snap recently, so we hope they will have headed to hibernate. There are copperheads spotted in the spring, summer, and fall.
- Bobcats and coyotes - we don't expect them to give anyone any trouble, but they do live in these woods.
- Cactus - Be careful going off trail to use the bathroom.
- River crossings [NO LONGER APPLICABLE IN ALTERNATE COURSE B] - there are two per race loop, as well as 750 feet along and through a creek that empties into the river. We think it makes this course even more unique and cool. You will get your feet wet in both crossings. In rainy conditions, it may be calf deep. You need to pick your footing carefully on the rock shelves and rocky river floor. Take caution, especially in the middle of the night.
- Slickrock - it's fine unless it rains and then it lives up to its name. Watch your footing.
- Loose rocky terrain
- Horses [NO LONGER APPLICABLE IN ALTERNATE COURSE B] – on the equestrian loop, from Pavilion Aid to Pavilion Aid, there will be some horseriding groups out on Saturday. Always make sure the horse and rider know you are approaching if coming up from behind by announcing yourself in a friendly, clear voice.

You are responsible for yourself. Make good choices!

Course Markings

As a state park, they have established a grid of trails through their land. It is each participant's responsibility to watch carefully for course markings. We will be using a combination of

- bright pink contractor tape flagging, with reflective tape on the ends to capture the light of your headlamp in the dark, that will be clothespinned to tree branches and bushes.
- bright pink stake flags for major field sections that don't have bushes to attach ribbons to
- arrow signs (left, right, straight)

In spots where there's an intersection, just follow the flagging for the correct route to take if there are no arrow signs specifically. Flagging will be visible from where you are standing in the intersection. Multiple flags can often mean there's an intersection so pay close attention in those moments.

You may see CAUTION tape quarantining off a place to NOT go. And in other spots where there's an intersection, always look around and then just follow the flagging showing the right route to take. Flagging will be visible from where you are standing in the intersection. We do not adhere to a "keep the flagging on" one side of your body or the other.

Confidence flagging: For trail sections where there's no possible logical offshoot of a trail that you could take other than the one you are on, you may go as far as a half mile without flagging.

If you ever get to a spot where you are completely unsure of where you are, backtrack on the path you took until you get to course markers. If you become utterly and completely lost, never ever go off trail. Sit down where you are and wait until someone gets to you.

Ultimately, you are responsible for knowing the course.

RACE DETAILS

Aid Stations

For each modified 10.5-mile loop of the course, below are the aid station details. See the Cutoffs section for aid station cutoff details.

FENCE LINE is a double-sided aid station. All runners except the 5 mile will hit it twice. Follow all signage.

CEDAR BRAKE is accessed at the start/finish of each loop. In Alternate Course B, this is a full aid station. You can access your drop bag here.

Here's everything in one big chart:

Aid Station	Aid Station Split	Cumulative Per Loop	Drop Bags?	Pacer Changes? (starting mile 50)	Crew Access?	Portapotty Access?
Fence Line	2.5	2.5	NO	NO	NO	NO
Fence Line	5.5	8.0	NO	NO	NO	NO
Cedar Brake	2.5	10.5	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes

Note that, due to a lack of vehicular access, Fenceline aid station has moved and will now be 0.6 miles earlier in the loop than the last Runners' Manual version. The chart above is current.

For 5 Milers (or the first reduced loop for half marathon or 100 milers), you will hit Fence Line at mile 2.5 and then the Finish Line (Cedar Brake) at Mile 5.

So you are never more than 4.3 miles from the next aid station!

Aid Station details subject to change.

What We'll Be Stocking at the Aid Stations

WE ARE CUPLESS: We're a firm believer in the Leave No Trace principles of trail etiquette, so this will be a Cup-Free Event to eliminate the chance of litter. There will be no paper cups at this event. Everyone must carry some sort of hydration system with them, whether it's a handheld water bottle, a waist fuel belt, or a hydration pack. For other drink needs besides water at the aid stations, we recommend the Ultraspire C2 collapsible reusable cup or the Hydrapouch.

WATER: Refreshing H2O at every aid station!

None of these foods or beverages below are guaranteed at any and all times. We'll stay stocked best we can. Choosing quantities to stock at an aid station is a total guessing game. If you want something certain, be sure to pack it in your drop bag or carry it on you in your hydration pack.

ELECTROLYTE DRINK: The electrolyte drink on the course will be Tailwind Nutrition.

COLD FOODS: Most of the usuals at the minimum. Cookies, candy, peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, chips, pretzels, and more. Energy gels are such an individual item that we will not be providing - bring your own favorite if you want to use these as fuel.

HOT FOODS: At night, for the 100 milers, we will have hot food options of beef ramen and instant potatoes, maybe more options, and we will have coffee also.

OTHER NOTES:

Not all foods will be vegetarian friendly, and those with special needs (gluten-free or vegan, for example) and those who are super duper picky should plan to bring their own nutrition. Those with severe food allergies (like a nut allergy or celiac disease) need to be aware that we can not guarantee against cross-contamination.

Aid stations will not provide Advil, Aspirin, Motrin, or any other pain relievers.

Aid stations will not have blister kits. If you are concerned about blisters, carry what you will need in your pack or make sure it's in the drop bag at each location you might need to use it.

Aid Station Check-In, Check-Out, and Dropping Out of the Race

At every aid station, participants are expected to check OUT when leaving an aid station. If you are bib 482, when you arrive, yell "482 IN." When you leave, you or your pacer (for 100 milers) should yell "482 OUT" and check that someone is recording. This keeps our records accurate.

If you decide to drop out of the race, you must please let the aid station captain know and make sure they note it on their clipboard. We don't want you to leave with your crew and then we're calling you or your emergency contact a couple hours later looking for you, or searching the expanse of the trail system for you!

Volunteers will work to monitor every participant's ingress to and egress from the aid stations. We reserve the right to disqualify anyone whose times between any check-in or check-out do not grossly align with the paces expected based on their moving times the rest of the race and their racing history.

Drop Bags

Drop Bags for all are allowed only at Cedar Brake (start/finish). Find an out of the way spot if you have a camp chair and multiple pieces of gear, or use our provided tarp if you have simply the drop bag.

Gear Advice When Packing Your Drop Bag: Plan each of your drop bags appropriately with lights and spare batteries as needed. Study the course map and decide when you want to have shoe or sock changes. Bags will not be covered and will be exposed to the elements so plan accordingly. Remember our aid stations do not have blister kits, so pack one anywhere you will need it. Review the aid station food and beverage lists and pack anything you require to fuel your body during the event.

For drop bags at Cedar Brake (start/finish): Not dictating size, but the Race Director reserves the right to tell you that you are taking up too much real estate in the Drop Bag area.

Labeling and Drop Off: Bags should be labeled with your name, number, and aid station name.

Getting Your Bag Afterwards: They are right there at the finish line, collect it on your way out. Drop bags must be picked up by 4:30 pm Sunday at the finish. Drop bags will NOT be mailed. Anything remaining will be donated or trashed, depending on the contents.

Cutoffs

There will be no FINAL cutoff time (within reasonable limits - read on). There are incremental cutoffs ONLY. You must make each of these cutoffs in order to continue in the race.

50K, Half Marathon, and 5 Mile starting on Saturday means you have ALL DAY so enjoy your time out there without worries about cutoffs.

Cutoffs are based on maintaining an average of 18-minute miles throughout the whole race.

Here are the cutoffs for all distances.

Start Last Loop (Mile 89 for the 100 milers) – Sunday, 10:45 am (26:45 elapsed time for the 100 miler)

Eence Line Outbound (Mile 92.1 for the 100 milers) – Sunday, 11:30 am (27:30 elapsed time for the 100 miler)

Fence Line Inbound (Mile 96.4 for the 100 milers) – Sunday, 12:50 pm (28:50 elapsed time for the 100 miler)

Finish Line (Mile 100 for the 100 milers) - If you can make the final cutoff and these conditions, we will wait for you with your buckle or medal at the finish, however long you take to make the final 3.1 mile journey, within reasonable limits (up to 3 hours for that final stretch). The finish line will be stripped to bare bones at 2:30 pm. Thanks for your understanding.

These cutoffs represent the time you must be OUT of the aid station by. If a participant chooses to leave an aid station and return to the race course after the time cutoff or after being told by aid station volunteers that they are being pulled from the race, the participant is instantly disqualified and may be banned from future races.

If you leave an aid station before the cutoff but then backtrack and return to that same aid station after the cutoff, you will be pulled from the race.

Crews

Crews may access their runners at the beginning and end of each loop (Cedar Brake aid station). Since space is limited, we reserve the right to ask multiple crew members taking care of one runner to limit to one to two crew members in close proximity to that aid station and otherwise care for your runner at a further distance.

Crews may only access their runners within 200 yards of the aid station or at the parked cars. Crewing a participant outside that area may result in disqualification. Crews may not eat or drink from the aid station at the end of each loop (does not apply to pacers). Failure by any crew member to follow the rules set out here may result in disqualification of their runner.

Pacers

Participants can have a pacer starting at mile 50 (therefore, pacers are for 100 mile and 100K runners only). Participants can pick up or change pacers at only the start/finish. See the aid station section above for details on each location. Participants can only be paced by one person at a time. Pacers and crews are responsible for getting the pacer shuttled back and forth to whatever aid station they are going to start from or end at. Be sure to read the directions carefully on how to get to the Pavilion aid station, located in the Aid Station section above!

No pacers are allowed in the 50K, half marathon, or 5 mile races – if you want company, that person needs to register for the race.

No muling allowed. This means that a pacer may not carry or deliver anything to their runner unless within 100 yards of an aid station. This includes food and water. Muling may lead to disqualification. Pacers may eat and drink from each aid station just like the participants, but not until shortly before they start pacing. You don't get to nosh all Friday when you won't start pacing until Sunday 2 am, for example. Failure by any pacer to follow the rules set out here may result in disqualification of their runner.

Medical

Each runner is responsible for their own actions. You need to be prepared both physically and mentally for all of the various stresses of the race. Our hope is to not have to call 911 for any of you. But in the event we have to in a medical emergency, medical expenses incurred are the responsibility of the participants receiving medical attention. Some parts of this trail are very remote to road access, and there may be a substantial amount of time that passes before medical personnel can arrive to provide aid.

Runners must understand all risks associated with undertaking this event. These physical and mental stresses include, but are not limited to, dehydration, hyponatremia, hypothermia, heat exhaustion, renal failure, seizures, hypoglycemia, disorientation, falls resulting in physical injury, complete physical and mental exhaustion, etc. Every participant is expected to monitor his or herself continually with an understanding of their own personal limitations. YOU, the individual participant, are absolutely responsible for your wellbeing during and after the race.

Timing

Due to the fact the race had to be postponed and now have a lower attendance due to that, the budget is limited and therefore the event will be manually timed. Ask after your finish for your official time and also about your placing to see if you earned an age group or overall award (remember that awards are not typically shipped post-race). Results will be uploaded to Ultrasignup and linked to from the race website on the Monday or Tuesday after the race.

- Bibs need to be worn to ensure race timing. If you do not wear a bib, you do not receive a time.
- Bibs should be worn on the front of the body.
- Bibs should be worn visible to anyone observing, so on the exterior of clothing. If you wear a jacket and place the bib underneath, it can help if you expose the underlying bib upon mat-crossing to enhance reader sensitivity. This is usually only a precaution.
- Bibs should not be crumpled up and placed inside runner's clothing.

Failure to register at each loop's split or incredibly inconsistent or unreasonable timing splits between aid stations may result in investigation and potential disqualification.

If you find you inadvertently go off course or take a wrong turn, you must return to where you left the course before continuing. If you cut a loop short and realize it, immediately notify volunteers to go find the race officials so a determination can be made as to how to help you complete the full distance.

Those not following the course will risk disqualification.

Dropping Down Distances Before the Race

If you want to switch distances ahead of time, talk to us (or email us), we'll verify we have the swag and finisher gear to support it, and we'll approve it BEFORE your race starts. If upgrading distances, you will just need to pay the difference between the price you paid for your original distance and the current price at the time of the request for your new distance. There is no refund for dropping down in distance before the race starts.

Dropping Down Distances Midrace

If you drop down midrace to a shorter distance than you initially signed up for, then you will not have an official finish in the shorter distance. Dropping midrace will result in a DNF (Did Not Finish). We all have bad days. It's okay.

Awards

In each distance:

- Top 3 Overall male and female
- First place male and female in the following age groups: 00-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50-59, 60-99

There is no prize money.

Awards for The Active Joe races are small and will travel well in checked or carryon luggage.

Every finisher in the 5 mile, half marathon, and 50K gets a medal. Every finisher in the 100K and 100 Mile get a belt buckle – there are special buckles for those who complete the 100 mile race in 1 one day (sub-24 hours).

You need to ask about your placing after the race and collect your award while you are there.

Littering

No, just no. Don't. If we find you littering, you're disqualified. We are here by the permission of the property owners, and we want them to invite us to come back. Don't jeopardize that for everyone. If you get all the way out of the aid station with a gel wrapper, paper cup, or anything else, carry it with you to the next aid station.

General Rules for all The Active Joe events

No dogs or strollers are allowed on the race course for the safety of all, unless a special exception is granted.

Runners and walkers are both welcome, as long as you can finish by the time limit.

Entry fees are non-refundable, including in the case of inclement weather.

No refunds will be granted if you downgrade at any time.

This is a private event, so unregistered participants are not allowed. "Banditting" (as this action is referred to) is frowned upon in the running community and unfair to the runners who paid for the opportunity to participate. Race entry fees go for a lot more than water on a course, medals at the finish line, and a shirt in your race packet. It also exposes an event to serious liability risk. It stresses race resources that were calibrated for the sold-out number of participants and therefore can put other participants', the paid participants, health or safety at risk. Those who bandit any portion of the race may be banned from future events by The Active Joe.

Note that it is never okay to allow someone else to use your bib without a proper bib transfer arranged with the Race Director. This can lead to serious liability and medical risks in the chance of emergency and jeopardize the future of the event for everyone.

Our primary goal is to provide a safe event for participants, volunteers, and the community alike. If something arises that threatens that safety, then a) the event will be altered as it is reasonably possible without stressing other resources, b) the events may be delayed during the morning, or c) the event may be canceled. The event can not be rescheduled for another date due to resource availability in the event of cancelation.

Event shirts not picked up at packet pickup or race day will not be mailed.

TRAVEL

Trail runners from all over the United States, and all across the great state of Texas, travel to experience this event. Whether you're traveling a short distance or far distance, we encourage you to enjoy the local attractions and make a full weekend stay of it.

Accommodations

Hotels: options are listed on the website.

Official Campsites with Hookups: You must book through the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reservations website. We do not have a block of campsites for us to give out for this new race date.

THIS YEAR WE WILL NOT BE OFFERING THE FREE CAMPING FIELD due to the excessive rain the last couple months.

No-Frills, No-Hookup RV Camping in the Parking Field: RVs and campers can be parked in the Parking Field. However, there are no hookups. With your race entry, your vehicle can access the park itself Friday afternoon through Sunday, and the dump station is $5. Also, any generators used in the parking field can not be used during Peace and Quiet park hours which is 10 pm to 6 am.

Car Camping: You are welcome to sleep in your car parked in the Parking Field if that works best for you. No field camping in the parking field. We don't want anyone to get run over in the dark!!

Air/Ground Transportation

A car will be needed to get around. There will be no shuttle service arranged, as we expect the vast majority of attendees to be locals or have rented a car for the trip from the airport.

Dallas, Texas is served by two area airports: Dallas-Love Field (DAL) is the smaller one where Southwest Airlines flies out of, and then all other airlines fly through Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport (DFW).

DFW - Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport - 82.8 miles, approx. 1 hr, 25 minutes in good traffic

DAL - Dallas Love Field Airport - 86.0 miles, approx. 1 hr, 30 minutes in good traffic
